

Package for High School Students

My ideal clients are High School Students on the island. They have parents who know their potential and wish to support them in any way they can. In some cases, the students may have come from abroad and might not feel they have the amount of support they would have if they were in their home country. These students are highly focused learners who have a good idea of where their future lies and want to ensure they are sufficiently prepared for the next transition in their lives. They also know that it takes more than excellent academic knowledge to achieve a well-rounded education.

Their challenge is that they are expected to achieve top results at school but currently have several distractions. Due to the current distractions, they may be falling behind and/or feeling overwhelmed. They wish to improve their focus working from home, to support their completion of work. They want to swiftly get back to a stable systematic day that resembles a school day for consistency. Coaching will help with ensuring they have covered and completed all the topics necessary for the school year. While trying to do their best academically, the coaching relationship will also support building the "soft skills" needed to be successful, independent learners now and in future life situations. They would like to have an ally with whom they can build a rapport and trust, to feel they are having a conversation, not an interrogation, while they traverse these challenges. The student worries that if things carry on as they are, they may not hit their academic targets in preparation for their transition and feel they have let themselves and their parents down, or, more to the point, parents will continue to be on their case day in, day out.

The result of coaching will be that while learning remotely and then in school, they will have a consistent plan for each day, with learning or progress goals for each task to be completed in the allotted time required. In feeling they have a handle on their studies, they and their parents are comfortable with the effort they are putting in each day. The return on your investment will be measured by students achieving their goals and with a sense of enjoyment doing it. They will also complete the coaching relationship with improved skills in perceived self-efficacy, resilience, commitment, and perseverance. These, along with an EDGE© on their peers in the soft skills areas of; communication, critical thinking, organization, self-motivation, and responsibility. Ultimately the aim will be to assist the student in becoming their own coach.

My offer would be a coaching collaboration of 3x 14 weekly online coaching sessions, one for each term of the academic year, including a review at the beginning and end of each school holiday. Your investment will be US$1500 per academic term. There will only be 8 (eight) student openings available during any academic year.

If you wish to add support to the progress your child is making, and you are currently thinking about how to get your child through the remainder of the academic year, consider how coaching may support you. Please message me or go to my website at www.edgebarbados.com and book an introductory meeting.